PRESIDENT SEES QUICK ECONOMY OR HIGHER TAX

Year's Deficit to Reach $895,000,000, F. D. R. Predicts

CONGRESS MAY ACT

Alf Landon May Discuss Budget Tonight

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19—(UP)—President Roosevelt abandoned hope today of a layman's balanced budget in this fiscal year but presented the country with alternatives of quick economy or higher taxes to bring expenditures within federal revenue.

Mr. Roosevelt's October budget report confronted the nation with its eighth consecutive deficit and pointed the public debt toward a new $37,000,000,000 high.

Mr. Roosevelt acknowledged that the treasury's gold sterilization policy probably would force the public debt considerably beyond the $37,119,858,732 figure indicated in this budget summation. But sterilized gold is rated a prime asset and available always to reduce the debt at its face value. Mr. Roosevelt's reference to gold was interpreted to mean that the treasury would continue to buy all metal offered here at new deal prices.

Gross Figure $895,245,000 Trimming revenue estimates and increasing his spending schedule Mr. Roosevelt looked to a gross deficit of $895,245,000 on June 30, 1938 at the close of this fiscal year. He estimated the second largest federal income in treasury records.

The net deficit, excluding $200,000,000 for statutory debt retirement, will be $695,245,000.

Revised budget estimates were made public here last night as Mr. Roosevelt, in a community chest speech from Hyde Park, N. Y., was saying:

"We all agree that unless federal taxes are to be greatly increased, the expenditures have to be brought within the existing tax receipts."

The two presidential statements are expected to arouse an economy (Continued on Page Eight)

SIX DIE AS FIRE DESTROYS HOME IN PENNSYLVANIA

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 19—(UP)—Six persons were burned to death early today when fire ravaged a two-story farm house near Waterford, Pa., 12 miles southwest of here.

Coroner W. G. Strobe and state motor police recovered the charred bodies from the ruins after the fire died out.

The victims, burned beyond recognition, were Mrs. Helen Molash, 50, her three sons, Abraham, 24, Peter, 21, and John, 19, and a daughter, Olga, 17, and the hired man, Harry Orchoff, 51.

The fire was discovered by two neighbors, Casimer and Ted Malinowski, between 3 and 4 o'clock this morning, but they were unable to arouse the house's occupants.

The Malinowski brothers with the help of Sam Loper, another neighbor, broke into the burning home but could not get to the bedrooms because of the flames and thick smoke.

Coroner Strobe said he believed the six victims were suffocated by the smoke before they were burned. The fire demolished the building.

The house was in flames when Waterford firemen arrived at the 90-acre farm situated on a back-country road. The dry woodwork burned rapidly and firemen concentrated on saving the barn and other farm buildings.

The Molash family has operated the farm for the last 15 years. Orchoff became the hired man four years ago after Mrs. Molash's husband died.

Peter Molash worked on the farm, the two younger children, John and Olga were seniors in Waterford high school. The oldest son, Abraham, was employed at an Erie paper mill.

The cause of the fire could not be determined. Coroner Strobe and his assistants, aided by motor police, searched the ruins in an attempt to discover the cause.

BODIES THROWN 100 FEET FROM RUINS OF LINER

Expectant Mother Among Victims of Crash in Uinta Mountains

SNOW DELAYS REMOVAL

Hope of Doctor to Save Baby Is Ended

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 19—(UP)—A searching party reached the wreckage of a United Airliner transcontinental plane today and found all its 19 occupants dead. The toll actually was 20 because one of the women passengers, had she lived a few days longer, would have given birth to a baby.

Ralph Johnson, United Airliner pilot and member of the first party to reach the wreckage, made a hazardous journey back down the steep slopes of the Uinta mountains and reported in Knight, Wyo., that all aboard the plane had been killed.

Eighteen bodies had been thrown through a hole torn behind the pilot's cockpit and were scattered for 100 feet in front of the plane, he reported. They were buried in the snow, with only arms and legs protruding.

One body was found in the cockpit.

The intelligence ended the pathetic hope of Dr. Richard M. Boe of San Francisco, whose niece, Mrs. Helen Ferreira, of Cheyenne, Wyo., one of the plane's 16 passengers, had been about to have a baby. Hoping that she still was alive, either unhurt in the crash or gravely injured, he had flown to Salt Lake City to join a searching party, expecting if possible to deliver her child at the scene of the wreck by a Caesarian operation.

Seats Torn Loose The plane struck so hard that eleven seats—all well fastened to the floor of the cabin—were torn loose and followed the occupants out the front of the plane. Practically everything movable in the cabin went out the hole in the nose.

J. W. Myers, another rancher who accompanied the party, said it appeared that most of the snow had fallen since the crash.

$50,000 RANSOM PAID, BUT ROSS IS NOT RETURNED

CHICAGO, Oct. 19—(UP)—Federal agents revealed today that $50,000 ransom had been paid in a vain effort to obtain return of Charles S. Ross, 72-year-old greeting card publisher kidnapped Sept. 25.

Daniel J. Ladd and Earl J. Connelly of the Federal Bureau of Investigation made public a list of the numbered ransom bills. At the same time, they issued a statement signed by J. Edgar Hoover, head G-man, which said the family of Ross waited a "reasonable length of time" after paying the ransom.

Hoover said the ransom was paid after the family received what "they believed to be definite proof that they were in contact with the kidnapers of Mr. Ross."

The bandit was described as weighing about 180 pounds, 5 feet, 8 inches tall, and wearing a zipper jacket.

Girl Found Murdered In Grafton

Louise Hornbeck Beaten With Club; Signs of Struggle Found

ELYRIA, Oct. 19—(UP)—The body of 19-year-old Louise Hornbeck was found today in a yard a few doors from her home in Grafton, near here. Her skull had been crushed, apparently by blows from a club. There was evidence that she had engaged in a terrific death struggle.

The girl's body was found by her father and brother, Forest, after a six hour search started when she failed to arrive home last night.

The scene of the slaying was on an unlighted residential street only a block from Grafton's main business street. Miss Hornbeck's body was found in the yard of Joseph Novesky, only 150 feet away from her home.

Employee of Doctor She was employed in the office of Dr. Earl Maple. She left there at 9:35 p. m. to walk to her home, less than a half mile away.

When she failed to arrive home by 11 p. m., Dr. Maple, her father and brother and a half dozen neighbors began their search.

They had all but given up the hunt when her father and brother poked in the shrubbery of Novesky's yard and found the body.

William Smith, chief deputy of Lorain county, went to Grafton, from Lorain to direct the investigation. He ordered the body brought here for examination.

Miss Hornbeck, who was graduated from high school last year, was described by Dr. Maple as "a fine girl who didn't have an enemy in the world."

Indignation High Indignation ran high with word of the girl's death. A citizens' posse was immediately formed to question transients.

The girl's father is a section foreman for the Big Four Railroad.

PLANES ATTACK AUTO CARRYING ITALIAN OFFICIAL

NANKING, Oct. 19—(UP)—Airplanes made a machine gun attack today on an automobile carrying Capt. Francesco Riebbi, of the Italian navy, accompanied by one German, one Russian and one Chinese.

The party was ten miles west of Foochow, en route from Shanghai to Nanking. All fled into the fields and escaped uninjured. The car was riddled.

Chinese sources asserted the attackers were Japanese.

CRISWELLS INVITED TO ROOSEVELT DINNER PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Criswell, S. Court street, will be among the guests at a dinner party planned by Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt as one of the first of many affairs which will honor the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, when they arrive in the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Criswell are planning to leave for Washington in November and will stay for the dinner which will be some time during the month.

Twin Elms Blamed For Fatal Accident in 1935

An auto crash during the 1935 Pumpkin Show at the twin elms, that stood in Route 23 near South Bloomfield until a year ago, was the basis of a $50,000 damage action filed in common pleas court Monday.

The suit was filed by Mrs. Martha M. Haas, 1157 E. Livingston avenue, Columbus, as administratrix of the estate of Anton J. Haas, against Laura M. and Orion King, W. High street, Circleville, and M. Seymour and Emma P. Millar, Ashville.

Mr. Haas was fatally injured on Oct. 19, 1935, when an auto in which he was going north on the highway crashed into the trees. He is survived by his widow, the plaintiff in the action, and five children.

The petition says the defendants are owners of the lands on each side of the highway. It contends that the Kings on May 9, 1928 deeded 1.328 acres of land to the

Double Slayer

Paul N. Dwyer

SLAYER OF TWO SENT TO ASYLUM FOR OBSERVATION

SOUTH PARIS, Me., Oct. 18—(UP)—Paul Nathaniel Dwyer, 18-year-old ex-schoolboy who killed Dr. and Mrs. James G. Littlefield last week, was committed to an insane asylum today for observation.

In granting defense counsel's committal petition after a brief hearing at Portland, Superior Judge George L. Emery stipulated that alienists at the Maine state hospital for the insane at Augusta report on the boy's mental status by Nov. 16. This report will be filed with the presiding justice of Oxford county superior court.

Granting of the petition automatically cancelled the scheduled arraignment of Dwyer in Portland municipal court on a charge of murdering Mrs. Littlefield. The boy pleaded not guilty to the doctor's murder when arraigned in Norway municipal court yesterday.

BACKER OF NEW DEAL DEFEATED FOR SENATE JOB

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 19—(UP)—Rep. John E. Miller, who admires President Roosevelt but didn't always support his program in the house of representatives, was named by the voters today to fill the unexpired term of the late Joseph T. Robinson in the senate.

Miller defeated Gov. Carl N. Bailey who accused Miller of disloyalty to the national administration and told the voters that he had and would support President Roosevelt "100 percent." Miller's margin was sufficiently decisive that when the returns from 1,667 of 1,923 precincts in yesterday's special election, gave him 59,896 votes to 37,491, Bailey conceded.

Miller said he admired the New Deal but always voted his conscience.

Some persons regarded Bailey's defeat as indicating at least a minor decline in New Deal popularity in a strictly southern state, but others pointed out that many more elements were involved than the question of the relatively small degree of support the candidates pledged to the national administration. Bailey had the machinery of the state Democratic organization behind him, but Miller had the machinery of many county organizations.

JACKSON COUNTY WIDOW CHOSEN AS TREASURER

JACKSON, Oct. 19—(UP)—Mrs. Herbert Poore of Wellston, widow of the Jackson county treasurer who died Friday night, was appointed today by county commissioners to succeed her husband.

WAVE OF SELLING FORCES WHEAT TO SKID ON MARKET

CHICAGO, Oct. 19—(UP)—Wheat prices crashed more than three cents a bushel today on the Chicago Board of Trade as speculators and traders dumped their grain holdings on the market as the New York stock market continued to fall.

The break on wheat at the opening of the day's trading was 1 1/2 to 3 1/2 cents a bushel.

Sharpest break was in May Futures, which sold at 96 1/2 cents, off 3 1/2 cents. December wheat was 96 1/2, off 2 1/2 cents and July crop sold at 96 1/2, off 3 cents.

All of the early selling, without exception, came from traders who feared the New York stock market would continue to lower levels and who dumped supplies in large quantities.

All traders in the pit appeared on the selling side and as the flood of offers grew an almost complete lack of takers became apparent.

Weakness in the market at Liverpool was a further weakening influence in Chicago. The break on the Chicago Board of Trade extended to other domestic markets as Kansas City, Duluth and Minneapolis prices collapsed for losses ranging to more than two cents.

CHIMES OPEN CEREMONY

Beauty Queen To Be Picked In First Parade

Circleville's 34th annual Pumpkin Show, expected to be bigger and better than ever, opens at noon Wednesday when Hervey Sweyer climbs into the courthouse tower to play several selections on the chimes.

From that moment until a very late hour Saturday night, Circleville, Pickaway county and all of central Ohio will participate in another celebration. The weather, on which the show depends for much of its success, is expected to be unsettled, but Pumpkin Show officials are "hoping for the best."

About half of the city's population was helping place exhibitors' stands and the other half was watching, Tuesday. Sunshine helped speed operations delayed by an all-day rain on Monday.

JOHN MONTAGUE GOES ON TRIAL AS 1930 GUNMAN

Elizabethtown, N. Y. Robbery Charge Is Fought By "Bunyan of Links"

HOLLYWOOD STARS AID

Kin Hana and Family Called As Witnesses

ELIZABETHTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 19 — (UP) — John Montague, Hollywood's "Paul Bunyan of the Bunkers," goes before the bar of justice in this Adirondack mountain village today to defend himself against a charge that he participated in a $700 roadside robbery in the days when he was Laverne Moore, the strong boy of Syracuse, N. Y.

The stocky, genial golfer, whose phenomenal drives and deadly cup shots earned him the reputation of "a master of the links," will be aided by the motion picture stars with whom he tried to find a new life in California — Bing Crosby, Guy Kibbee, Oliver Hardy, Otto Kruger, Richard Arlen and Andy Devine.

James M. Noonan, defense attorney who once defended the late Arthur (Dutch) Schultz, fledgeling against federal tax evasion charges, obtained permission in Judge Harry E. Owen's Essex county court to file six character affidavits of Hollywood stars who knew Montague only as a super golfer, not as a Syracuse bad boy.

12 Witnesses Ready

District Attorney Thomas W. McDonald announced that he was ready with 12 witnesses with whom he hoped to prove that Montague was one of the four masked men who broke into Kin Hana's roadside at Jay, N. Y., on Aug. 5, 1930 and escaped with $700. McDonald repeated what he said when Montague was returned from California for arraignment:

"I have no personal animus against Moore, but I do not believe that reform and rehabilitation is sufficient plea against a charge of first degree robbery, nor do I believe that mere acquaintance with people of prominence is justification for such a crime."

Roger Norton, Cleveland, O. truck driver, who served 18 months for participating in the robbery, will be a major witness for the prosecution.

"I have never seen the man since we parted at Schenectady the morning after the crime," Norton said, "but I can identify Moore as Montague by the pictures I have seen."

At the preliminary hearings during the summer, at which he was released in $25,000 bail reportedly furnished by Bing Crosby, Montague said angrily that he had never heard of Norton.

McDonald also will call Hana and his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Hana; her father, Matt Cobb, who allegedly was beaten by Montague with a blackjack and revolver during the robbery; the three Hana daughters, Naomi, Doris and Harriet; and State Trooper Harry C. Durand, one of the men who brought Montague back from the West coast.

About Election

"Bless you boy we'd be glad to tell you if we only knew," we said to an individual yesterday who was anxious to know just how the election is going and asked us "point blank" what we knew about it. And there is where we had to "back up" and acknowledge we knew nothing, and could not even venture a guess. No one is saying anything about election and whom they expect to vote for, so there you are, what can you tell about it?

One party did say to us that he had it all "figured out" but said that he had heard once, when he was a boy, that figures don't always tell the truth, so he's not so sure about the results either. The voters of both Harrison Township and Ashville have a great flock of candidates for trustee and village council so there is plenty to choose from. Two weeks yet and a lot can happen in that time.

Removes to Ashville

Walter Rayman, we are guessing, has figured he can have a better time in a larger town than a small one, so he has removed from the old home at South Bloomfield to Ashville and has one day to spare in voting in Ashville.

9,000 Pumpkin Cans

In talking to Weighmaster and Timekeeper E. E. Fraunfelder yesterday about the pumpkin canning this year he said that the factory began work on Sept. 30 and the last day was on Oct. 15. And the cases packed he guessed were around 9,000 — enough to make at least a million pies. The average number of helpers, he thought was 60 and a payroll of around $3,000.

When the Pumpkin Show edition of The Circleville Herald came in through the mail yesterday evening for Robert Hoover, the regular carrier for the Herald, he was completely swamped, had enough newspaper to last a dozen goats for a whole year. We put the "old boat" into action and helped Bob make his route and deliveries to a fine lot of customers he has on his regular list. It rained all the way around, but newspaper carriers don't mind the weather because they know their people are waiting. And by way of a good boost for Bob, we have not had a single complaint about this faithful carrier since he started to work for The Herald January 20, 1937. And this is not all, we are sure he will not spoil this good record.

TRIO OF KIWANIS CLUB MEMBERS AT CONVENTION

Renick W. Dunlap, Dwight Steele and Dan McClain, of the Circleville Kiwanis club, are in Toledo this week attending the convention of the 20th district Kiwanis clubs. More than 300 members of the organization and their wives are in Toledo.

Judge A. A. Schramm, of Marietta, former district governor and one-time international vice-president, spoke at opening ceremonies Monday.

Other speakers were David Atting, Cincinnati, addressing presidents and vice presidents of clubs of 50 members or less and Don Mumford, of Bellefontaine, speaking before secretaries and treasurers.

The local club enjoyed a splendid address on the Sino-Japanese situation, Monday evening, by Dr. Ira Jones, superintendent of the Chillicothe district of the Methodist church. Dr. Jones described the war as being opposed by the Japanese common people but commanded by war lords.

He said that Japan's hope is that China can be developed into a more satisfactory trading nation.

GANGSTER WARNS YOUTH OF WRONG COURSE IN LIFE

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19 — (UP) — A penitent desperado, held here awaiting his return to Ohio, where he will face a variety of criminal charges, including murder, asked Federal Commissioner William S. Wacker today to "tell my story" to the nation's youth.

James Widmer, 31, captured fugitive from a Cleveland jail, urged young people to mind their parents if they wished to avoid a life such as his.

"That was my first big mistake," Widmer said. "I had the finest parents in the land, but I haven't been home for 15 years. My advice particularly to boys attending lower grade schools, is to mind their parents."

"It's an old, old story, but crime does not pay."

Celebration Committee Arranges Essay Contest

MARIETTA, Oct. 19 — Northwest Territory celebration officials are announcing the art and essay school competition for all public, private and parochial students in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

A large mailing which will place an announcement of the contest in each of the 50,000 schools in the Northwest Territory has just been completed.

The competition will be divided into three contests—one each for grade school high school, and college students. The grade school contest will be divided into four divisions, the first two competing on art redititions of events relating to the Northwest Territory. The remainder of the divisions, as well as the high school and college entrants will compete in the preparation of essays on specific subjects concerning the history and significance of the territory.

Cash, trip and scholarship prizes totalling more than $20,000 will be won by the successful entrants. In the grade school contest four winners from each state will receive an all expense trip to Washington, D. C., and other points of interest along the route. In the high school contest substantial cash prizes and splendid scholarship awards from 46 colleges within the six states will be won. College contestants will win cash awards and a post graduate scholarship at the University of Chicago.

An informative, supplemental text-book will be off the press within the next few days and will be distributed free of charge to the more than 250,000 school teachers in the six states. This 95 page book will provide in an interesting manner a history of the Ordinance of 1787 and the Old Northwest, and will be valuable source of information for contestants. It also includes a bibliography of source materials and complete rules and regulations for the contest.

TRACY DOES "ARROWSMITH"

Spencer Tracy, Hollywood's "tops" in versatility, plays the title role in Sinclair Lewis' "Arrowsmith" in the Radio Theatre on Monday, October 25. As a novel, "Arrowsmith" won the Nobel Prize for Lewis. Then it was a hit in the movies and now the story will have its first complete radio production in the broadcast over the Columbia network at 9 p. m. with Cecil B. DeMille directing.

As a drama of the struggles of a young doctor just starting in practice, "Arrowsmith" is typical. But it also tells the very individual story of Martin Arrowsmith who faces problems most doctors never know.

It was Spencer Tracy who scored one of the Radio Theatre's most brilliant successes as the doctors in "Men in White" last year. Now this week he returns to play Arrowsmith in the Sinclair Lewis story.

Arrowsmith's heart was set on research work in medicine but an early marriage made it necessary for him to start practice in a small town. Eventually he does realize his dream, goes back to work with his friend and hero of medical days, a Dr. Gottlieb.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

You won't see Dave Weingreen when Samuel Goldwyn's "Dead End" which is currently playing at the Cliftona Theatre, but he's one of the players who worked every day while the picture was in production.

He's the man in the hole in the center of the dead end street and all he does is throw shovelfuls of dirt out of the excavation. You can see his shovel, but you can't see Mr. Weingreen.

There are other people in "Dead End" with even stranger parts. There's the woman who stands on the fire escape drying her hair. There's the man who lies on a mattress on a fire escape three stories up, sleeping. There's the ice man who saunters across the street every now and then.

What they do may not seem particularly important. It is Sylvia Sidney, Joel McCrea, Humphrey Bogart, Wendy Barrie, Claire Trevor, Allen Jenkins and the Dead End kids from the original New York stage cast need a living background against which to play their scenes and men like Mr. Weingreen supply it.

DERBY CHILD UNDERGOES STRANGE OPERATION TO STRENGTHEN HER SPINE

Glenna Stage, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Stage of Derby, Ohio, was reported in good condition in Grant hospital today after an operation for a spinal injury. A piece of bone was removed from her leg and inserted as a support for her spine.

en elevator tower weighing, together with its gasoline-powered winches, about 20 tons.

The tower, on which camera, sound and directorial crews ascend to a level equal to that of crews of linemen working on adjacent steel towers and wooden poles, was constructed at the studio.

It was first moved to a ranch near Calabasas, 25 miles away. Then, when Director Ray Enright wanted a new type of background, it was transported 7 miles to Las Vegas. The third move took the elevator tower to a site near Victorville, Calif., 107 miles from the Mesa and the fourth returned it to the studio.

Windsors Come to U. S. on This Ship

THE Duke and Duchess of Windsor are due to arrive at New York with their entourage on Nov. 11, Armistice Day, to begin their American visit. The much-discussed couple probably will be too much surrounded by reporters and cameramen to view New York's skyline. They are scheduled to sail from Cherbourg, France, Nov. 6, aboard the German liner Bremen. The duke selected this vessel because it will not touch at an English port after sailing from Cherbourg.

Salary of Bartholomew Boy Raised to $98,000

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 19.—(UP)—Freddie Bartholomew's salary was doubled today, raised to $98,000 a year, and he was scampering around his movie studio celebrating his new fortune.

But fortune to him meant that his producer, Louis B. Mayer, had raised his spending money allowance from five cents a day to $1 weekly, and that was why he celebrated.

The movies' 14-year-old "little Lord Fauntleroy" waved his first week's banknote, the first one he ever had to spend, and he was estimating what it would buy in the way of ice cream and trinkets.

He had only a vague idea of the settlement arranged between Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio and his guardian aunt, Miss Mylicent Bartholomew, over his salary, although he spent half a day in the courtroom hearing it argued yesterday.

His deal with Mayer for his spending money was a "personal contract" not involved in the salary dispute.

Approved By Court In court, Freddie fidgeted while Judge Clement L. Shinn approved the contract and ended a long legal fight between the studio and Miss Bartholomew. The new contract pays Freddie $2,000 weekly for 40 weeks a year, and $3,000 weekly for six weeks while he is on a personal appearance tour.

The old contract paid $1,100 for 40 weeks a year, and his aunt had threatened to end his career and return him to school in England because he could not save anything from that sum.

When the new contract expires in two years the studio has an option on Freddie for another two years. His pay will shrink to $1250 a week, however. By that time Freddie will be in the "awkward stage" and unable to play his present "cute boy" roles. Freddie sat in the big witness chair and piped to the judge in Oxford accent that he was "completely satisfied" with the new arrangement. He also remarked that he can do "very easily" without any more trips to court. The judge sympathized.

"It's this controversy ended and the boy was gotten out of court," he said. Asking Freddie's aunt Mylicent Bartholomew about his schooling, Judge Shinn remarked: "He can't get an adequate education around the courtroom, you know."

Miss Bartholomew replied that Freddie had a tutor approved by the Los Angeles school board. The aunt gets $11 a week under the contract for managing the boy, whom she legally adopted.

The judge requested Miss Bartholomew's counsel, Col. William Neblett, to bring a separate action for $25,000 legal fees. The studio wants to pay only $10,000.

Brief Items of Interest to Pickaway Farmers

The Washington Bureau of Agricultural Economics believes lamb prices will remain fairly steady for the next few months.

Farm fires killed 3,500 people in 1936 and caused a property loss of approximately $100,000,000. Prevention is the only successful method of controlling fires in rural communities.

A committee of Ohio men is already working out the program for the World Poultry Congress to be held in this state in 1939. Representatives from many foreign countries always attend this meeting.

Reports of Ohio agricultural agents indicate that many fields of alfalfa will go into the winter under the handicap of late cuttings which possibly will result in winter killing unless weather conditions are favorable.

Cottonwoods used for some of the 2,600 miles of shelterstrips planted in western states have grown as much as 22 feet in two years. Reports of farmers and forestry men are enthusiastic about the benefits of these plantings.

Obtaining ice from gas wells is one of the late developments in New Mexico. Wells there produce as much as 4,000,000 cubic feet of carbon dioxide gas daily and 20,000 cubic feet of this gas makes one ton of dry ice which sells for 35 to 40 dollars a ton.

Applications of lime after wheat seeding are recommended by Ohio State university agronomists when farmers have been unable to apply the material earlier in the rotation. Earl Jones says applications before seeding are to be preferred but those made afterward will help a great deal to prepare acid soil for the production of clover and alfalfa.

Navy Man in Colombia Regrets Missing Show

From Colombia, South America, a U.S. marine has sent his regrets of Ed. Wallace, president of the Chamber of Commerce, for not being able to attend Circleville's 34th annual Pumpkin Show.

The marine, L. D. Cox, first sergeant, secretary to naval attache, Bogota, Colombia, is a former resident of Barnesville, Ohio, and has kept a close check on the famous Pumpkin Shows through Reber Bell, N. Court street, short wave radio operator.

The letter to Mr. Wallace says: "It is with pleasure indeed that again I turn my thoughts towards Ohio and the beauties of Autumn days and the festivities held during these days."

"One of these festivals which stands out clearly in my mind is the Circleville Pumpkin Show. Being a native of Barnesville, Ohio, and knowing of the Pumpkin Show through the medium of its publicity, it was a treat to attend one of those famous Circleville Pumpkin Shows, and now with Autumn in the air, my thoughts turn back to the last show I attended and the desire to be home and be in Circleville, Ohio, for this season. During the past, no matter whether in China or Panama, my interest always remained the same and I closely followed these shows by having my good friend, Mr. Bell, forward me clippings and also many personal letters of interest."

"Last evening, Oct. 11, I was able to talk personally to Mr. Bell through the means of amateur radio station HK3JA here in Bogota, Colombia, and his own personal station W8JVF in Circleville. Of course the Pumpkin Show was the topic in our minds and it made me homesick for Ohio and the thought that again I would miss all the festivities he so clearly described to me."

"So another year rolls around and duty finds me in another country and again not being able to be present and enjoy the festivities connected with this year's show, which I know from Mr. Bell's description of last night, promises to be the best and more elaborate than those of previous years."

"The Chamber of Commerce and its worthy president are to be congratulated in making the Pumpkin Show so widely known and attended. I regret that I cannot attend this year but will look forward with deep interest for the unusual letters and description of this year's festivities from Mr. Bell."

Enclosed in the envelope were some stamps of Colombia, Venezuela and Panama which Mr. Cox believed would be a treat for stamp collectors. He suggested a stamp guessing contest be worked out.

Although Messrs. Bell and Cox have never met, they have been "friends on the air" for some time.

RECOVERY BEFORE DEPRESSION
LEONARD P. AYRES, a leading banker-economist, isn't worried lest the recent big stock slump and mild business slump drag the country back into depression. It would be against all precedent, he says, if we got into a new depression before we have fully recovered from the last one.

He bases this conclusion on a careful study of our economics ups and downs over a period of 83 years. His diagram shows that, starting away back before the Civil War, and extending to the end of the "new era" in 1929, "per capita production never turned down to a new depression until after it had reached a new all-time high level in prosperity.

Today, he adds, the per capita volume of production is still 17 per cent below the last high point reached in 1929, so we've got at least that far to go.

WINDOW GLASS
THE biggest piece of glass in human history was completed the other day in the Ford plant at Dearborn, Mich. It was 51 inches wide and 500 miles long. The glass never really attained that length, being necessarily cut off in sections as the strip came from the rolls. But the process of mixing the ingredients and rolling the glass was continuous for 139 days. The strip was produced at the rate of three and one-half linear miles a day. Its total area was 240 acres.

Here is a good example of the vast scale on which manufacture works today in the mass-production industries. We probably make more glass in a year now, in America, than there was in all the world when Henry Stiegel started making glass in Pennsylvania in 1765. And glass fortunately is one of the essentials of civilization for which the supply of materials is inexhaustible. It takes little more than sand, alkali and heat to melt them. Plus expert knowledge and skill, of course.

Yes, as Shakespeare remarked, "It's a mad world, my masters." And you can take that word "mad" as "angry" or "crazy," or both together.

People are just naturally queer, and so it comes about, as a nurse says, that the worse problem at maternity hospitals is the "expectant fathers."

Other nations may dodge their responsibilities to civilization, but not Japan. She is determined to save China from the perils of Russian Communism if it takes the last Chinaman.

Somebody ought to write a song about the Whangpoo River—but maybe the Chinese balladists are attending to that.

World At A Glance

A Republican whom no one mentions as a possible G. O. P. standard bearer in 1940 is Senator William E. Borah of Idaho.
The reason why he is not suggested is not far to seek. He will be 75 in June of that year, just about the time the party will be holding its national convention. And 75 is old for a presidential nominee. If he should chance to be elected, think what a Methuselah he would be at his first term's end!—to say nothing about a second one.
The late President von Hindenburg "got away with it" in Germany, but such ages are not customary in the White House. Indeed, they are unprecedented.
For that matter, perhaps Hindenburg was a mistake, fine old man as he was. Certainly he left Germany in a bad jam when he did fade out of the picture—a jam so bad that Herr Hitler was able to take advantage of it. And now look at the Fatherland!

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round
By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

C. I. O. LEADERS BICKER
WASHINGTON — The Committee for Industrial Organization, meeting in Atlantic City this week, has one or two dents in its armor which indicate that all is not harmonious beneath the surface.

In piling up its vast membership of 4,000,000 members and outmaneuvering the A. F. of L. in most of the mass-production industries, the CIO has fallen into one of the chief mistakes which ripped open its rival—internal bickering.

Prima donnas of the CIO, like the craft union heads of the A. F. of L., now are pulling each other's hair backstage in the dressing-rooms.

Chief prima donna row has been between David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers, and Sidney Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers. Another has been between Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers, and some of his cohorts.

KNIT-GOODS DISPUTE
The Dubinsky-Hillman dispute has been over who shall organize and control the workers of the knit-goods industry. This may sound relatively unimportant, but for a time it threatened to cause a serious break between these two pillars of the CIO.

During the depression, Dubinsky's Ladies' Garment Workers slumped badly. Membership dropped to a new low. On the other hand Sidney Hillman's Amalgamated Clothing Workers weathered the storm, was even able to lend money to one or two factory owners.

With the NRA, however, the Garment Workers got a new lease on life, reached a present membership of about 225,000. Hillman's Amalgamated Clothing Workers meanwhile numbers about 200,000.

Dubinsky, intensely ambitious, was elected to the executive council of the A. F. of L. at San Francisco some years ago. When he returned, the Pennsylvania Station in New York couldn't hold his followers.

LEWIS AS "SOLOMON"
Rivalry between Dubinsky and Hillman, already at a high peak, reached a breaking point when it came to organizing the workers in the knit-goods industry. Hillman claimed the industry as a division of men's wear. Dubinsky claimed it as women's wear.

Finally they took their case to John L. Lewis. He decided that since Hillman was organizing the entire textile industry of 1,000,000 workers, it was only fair that the 75,000 workers in the knit-goods industry should go to Dubinsky.

Hillman, after some delay and demurring, finally agreed, and this little hair-pulling contest now is settled.

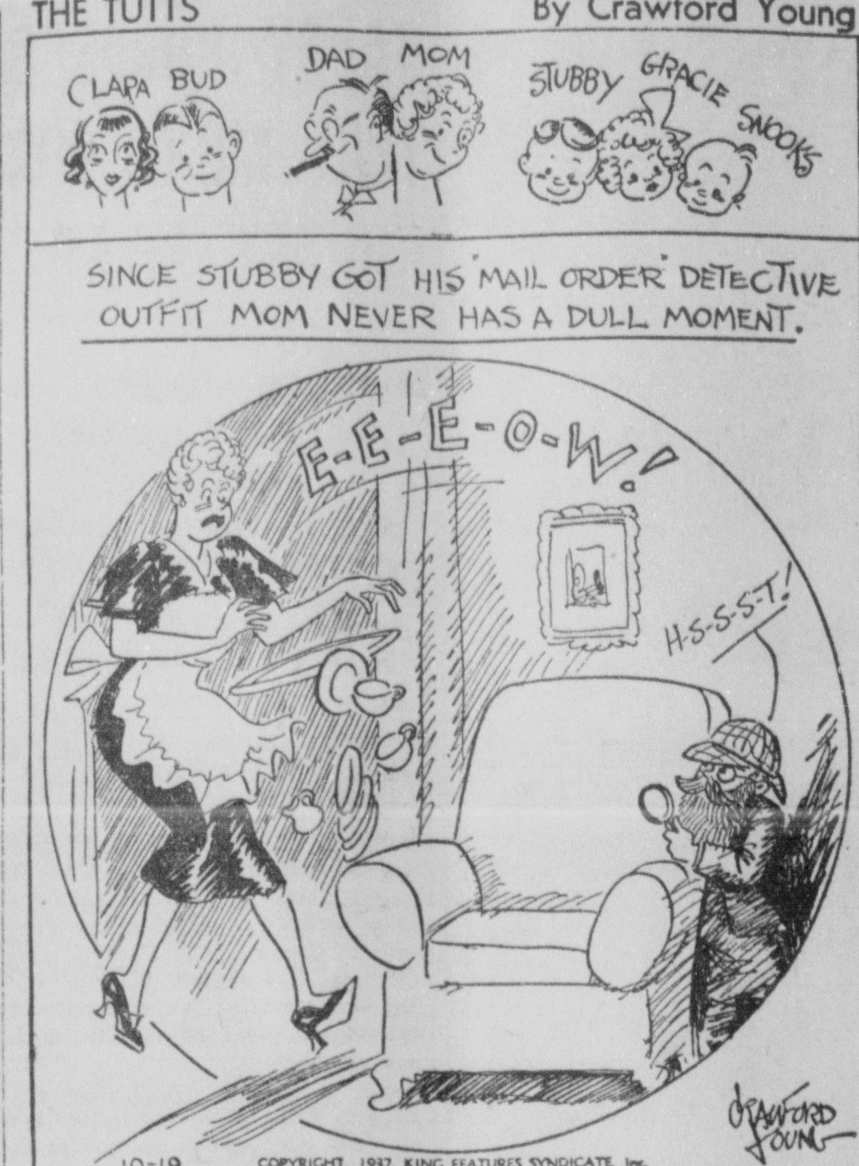

The situation within the United Automobile Workers, however, still is stewing, caused Homer Martin, head of the union, to pull a revolver on his own men in a Detroit hotel the other day. It will cause more headaches before it is finished.

Lincoln Ellsworth is planning to fly over the Antarctic again. You'd think that man owned all the snow and ice down there, the way he likes to go and look at it.

that it did not nominate the Idaho solon in 1936.
All hands said he was too old then. Consequently he was not considered.
Well, so he was too old, according to all orthodox reckonings.
He undoubtedly would have been beat, too.
But he would not have been beat as badly as Alf M. Landon was. And, even after being defeated, he would have left the G. O. P. in good shape to "make medicine" for 1938 and 1940; not altogether at loose ends, as it is at present.
ANOTHER "IF"
Defeated (presumably), Borah would have been his party's leader, and a mighty strong leader.
Probably, if beat in 1936, he would not have counted on being renominated in 1940, but he would be preparing the ground for the latter year's nominee. See what Alf Smith did. Squashed flat in 1928, under his leadership his party committee, in the ensuing four years, had everything fixed for a Democratic 1932 victory.
The thing did not turn out as Alf intended, but it was competent party leadership, though Franklin

Face's 'Danger Zone': Keep Hands Away!

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
LITTLE PIMPLES, or boils, or hair root infection of the face, are very common. They usually are treated at home by the victim himself. Good advice recently given by a distinguished surgeon is as follows:
Don't meddle with boils, carbuncles or pimples which occur in the danger area of the face.
The danger area of the face is the triangle whose points are the angles of the mouth and the bridge of the nose. If you draw an imaginary line from the corner of the mouth to the center of the bridge of the nose, just between the eyes on both sides, and consider the edge of the upper lip as the base, you have the danger area triangle.
In 90 per cent of all (and most fatal) cases of infection arising in the danger triangle, unnecessary meddling is a factor. Infections in this area, according to this surgeon, are almost universally mis-treated. Surgical treatment is absolutely the worst. What is required is complete rest of the part. Proper treatment is exceedingly conservative, and consists in masterful inaction—complete rest of the part, warm compresses, etc.

Infection May Be Fatal
Infections in this region are not only troublesome, but they may be fatal. One surgeon of my acquaintance has seen 20 cases of death from infection in this area. The reasons why this area is so much of a danger zone are:

(1) The skin is thin in this region.
(2) It is constantly exposed to injury.
(3) Its rich supply of blood vessels provides a direct pathway from the surface of the face to the inside of the skull by way of the great cavernous veins.
(4) Connective tissue, which poorly adapts itself to infection, predominates in this area.
(5) The constant motion of the lips breaks down any protective wall formed by the white blood cells which ordinarily limit infection in other parts of the body.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS
W. B. M.: "Would the daily use of mercuric oxide yellow in upper passages of the nose subject the user, in time, to metallic poisoning? Is this ointment of value in the treatment of inflamed nasal passages?"
Answer: I do not know of any specific instance in which the use of the yellow oxide of mercury has resulted in poisoning, but it is a wise rule not to use any mercuric drug indefinitely. Many cases of silver poisoning have resulted from the use of argyrol and other silver salts in the nose over a long period of time. The patient is advised by a physician usually to use these drugs, and then continues long after the doctor has ordered their discontinuance.

CHAPTER 31
TIM SPOKE calmly after carefully analyzing the situation when Adams dropped the bombshell declaring he knew Tim had killed his wife.
"I said I'd hear you out, Adams, and I will. What started this abominable idea in your mind?"
"You mean my reason for knowing?"
"I mean—provided you're not crazy, which I believe you are—you must imagine you have grounds for a slander which, quite apart from any question of blackmail, may let you in for a long term of penal servitude."
"Don't be a fool," Adams retorted. "I've told you it's no use trying to bluff me. I know what you did. You talked a lot of stuff about nightmares, to prepare the ground. I dare say your wife did have nightmares—they probably gave you the idea—but all that stuff about jumping out of bed and banging herself about, I don't mind betting that was mostly lies. Anyway, you put across the idea, had everybody lined up to believe your story. But you couldn't work it in your usual bedroom—too near the ground. So you messed around with the chimney, loosened a brick or two, brought some soot down, and made a perfectly good excuse to move up to the top room, where you had things as you wanted 'em."
"Then you only had to pick a day. It wasn't such a bad idea picking her birthday, you had an excuse for encouraging her to guzzle, and it helped to make the whole business seem more likely. . . . All you had to do was wait till she was asleep, pick her up quietly, and pitch her out of the window. The 40-foot drop and the concrete below would do the rest. That's how you worked it!"
Something like relief stole over Tim. If this was all, he could face it out. It amounted to no more than inspired guessing. No proof. . . . He reminded himself once more of the impossibility of proof.
"Allow me to remind you you haven't answered my question."
"What question?"
"How do you propose to get anyone to believe this farago of yours?"
"Ah, now you're talking."
"My friend, I'm going to do something more than talk. . . . It appears you have concocted this insane story without a shred or suggestion of evidence to back it up."
"Well, I wouldn't quite say that. . . . You see there were one or two things you didn't tell the coroner, and it wasn't my place to do his work for him. . . . Your electric torch, for instance. . . ."
"What about my electric torch?"
"You had it with you when I found you. Why didn't you mention that at the inquest?"
"Why should I mention it? It cutie, if you collected from the big bloke in advance."

Pots and Pans and Everything Else

By EDNA K. WOOLEY

A well equipped hardware store is a fascinating place. Once I get into one, it's hard to leave. I finger the gadgets on the display counters, run my eyes over the shelves, usually see something I think I need, and depart with a new kind of can opener or a different sort of cake pan or, if nothing else, a small box of assorted nails.

There's much besides hardware in one of these stores. You can buy a radio tube or a radio, garden seeds and fertilizers, shaving mugs and sets of china, mops and garden hose, flashlights and dated batteries, light bulbs, paints and pots and pans, and goodness knows what else in addition to the regular line of hardware.

Quite as useful as the neighborhood grocer, is the neighborhood hardware store. It's always ready for emergencies that arise in the home. Did you lose your garage key? The hardware man will supply you with a skeleton key. He will also make new keys for you at a moment's notice.

Maybe the hot boiler springs a leak. The handy man of the neighborhood store can fix it, at least temporarily. Need to replace a rusted section of stovepipe? The hardware store has it and will send a man to do the job. Something wrong with the washing machine? Maybe the hardware man can fix it. Need some weather stripping? The hardware store will supply it. One of the outside water spouts dripping? Call the hardware man. He'll fix a leaky roof, too. Vacuum cleaner makes a queer noise when you use it? Send for the hardware store's fixer.

Really, I believe the hardware store man is the biggest fixer in creation. There seems to be no limit to his uncanny ability. And as yet fame knows him not—at least in a public way. He is one of the unsung blessings of humanity.

Some time ago a trade magazine for the hardware business made a survey among housewives with regard to their use for hardware stores. The result of this survey showed that when the housewife patronized the hardware store, three out of five times it was for emergency items.

Household Wizard

And the hardware man can be depended on for good advice. What's the best thing to take water spots out of a polished table top? He'll tell you and furnish the material. He'll advise the process and kind of paint to re-finish the kitchen chairs, or fix the badly-worn floor in the front entry, or show you how to do a small soldering job—maybe lend you the soldering iron. He'll tell you what kind of screws or nails or brads to use for certain things, and what kind of a washer to put in the dripping faucet.

Why, that hardware man is a wizard! We depend upon him for everything but food, drink and clothing, often not realizing how important he is in our daily lives. Especially is he a treasure in a manless household, such as mine. It was a sad day when our old handy hardware man sold out and departed from this neighborhood. We called upon him for all emergencies, from putting a rattling window to putting up a new stove.

MORE INTERSECTIONAL GAMES HOLD INTEREST OF FOOTBALL FANS

RESERVE SQUAD GOES TO BOSTON FOR BIG CONTEST

Duke Meets Colgate and T.C.U. Plays Fordham Next Saturday

SOUTH BOASTS NO. 1

California to Face Threat of U. S. C. Outfit

NEW YORK, Oct. 19—(UP)—Torrid sectional battles in the seven major conferences, nine intersectional brawls and three games pairing undefeated and untied teams feature the coming week-end of gridiron hostility.

The East, which produced many of the casualties in last Saturday's unexpected slaughter, again commands national attention. Seven major intersectional games will be played on Atlantic seaboard gridirons.

Two games pair perfect record eleven—Alabama at George Washington, and Western Reserve at Boston university—while two other eleven with perfect records meet opponents which have been tied but unbeaten. Undefeated Wisconsin invades Pittsburgh, tied by Fordham, and unbeaten Detroit plays at Boston college, tied only by Temple.

Other Intersectionals

The other aster intersectionals are Duke at Colgate, Texas Christian at Fordham, and Washington U. of St. Louis at Army. Other intersectional battles: Navy, unbeaten but tied by Harvard, at Notre Dame; and Manhattan at Kentucky.

The South Boasts the No. 1 game of the day—unbeaten Vanderbilt against unbeaten Louisiana State, a battle which might have an important bearing on the Rose Bowl question as well as the championship of the southeastern conference. Most of the others in the rapidly thinning ranks of the unbeaten and untied have stiff opposition.

California, favored to win the Pacific coast title and represent the west in the Rose Bowl, faces an up-and-coming Southern California team. Dartmouth meets Harvard, unbeaten but tied by Navy. Baylor plays Texas A. and M., another unbeaten but tied eleven. Holy Cross faces Western Maryland; Syracuse plays Maryland; Yale meets Cornell; Northwestern plays Ohio State; Santa Clara meets Loyola of Los Angeles on Sunday and Colorado U. plays Colorado State.

Bowling News

Glitt's grocery won three games in a row from the Mader funeral service and Coca Colas captured two out of three contests from the Container Corporation in the City Industrial bowling league Monday evening. The matches were rolled on the C. A. C. alleys with a 563 scored by Dr. Watts of the Coca Colas being high for the evening.

ARMSTRONG IS WINNER

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19—(UP)—Henry Armstrong, negro featherweight from Los Angeles, Calif., who meets Petey Sarron for the title 10 days hence, had added to his long string of knockouts today with a quick victory over Joe Marcicente of Montreal.

Ten major versions of the Bible are in use among Christian peoples, including the Orthodox Greek, Roman Catholic, Syrian, Ethiopian, Lutheran, Protestant, Episcopal, Egyptian, Gregorian and Latter Day Saints.

PACKERS, GIANTS PACING GRIDERS IN PRO LEAGUE

NEW YORK, Oct. 19—(UP)—The Green Bay Packers and New York Giants are threatening offensive and defensive records in the National Professional football league, according to averages released today.

The Packers, in addition to leading the league in scoring with 104 points have gained 1,459 yards in five games for an average of 291 per game. The record average is 288 per game set by the Chicago Bears in 1934.

The Giants, in four games, have yielded the opposition only 504 yards. This is only 17 yards a game more than the record defensive average of 143 yards set by the Chicago Cardinals in 1934. The Chicago Bears and Giants share defensive honors, having allowed opponents only 11 points each.

PLAN OF JOHNS HOPKINS SCHOOL NAMED SUCCESS

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 19—(UP)—With the major sports season well under way, Johns Hopkins university officials were prepared today to declare their new athletic policy, eliminating admission charges to all university, contests, a definite success.

Only one football game has been played this season at home but the attendance was five times that of the average attendance at games under the old system of paid admissions.

The Johns Hopkins football team has played one game away from home at Lehigh university and the team's expenses on that trip were paid out of the university's athletic budget. The entire "gate" went to Lehigh.

The new athletic policy was announced last Spring. After fulfillment of all existing commitments the university abolished admission charges, refused guarantees to visiting teams and declined to accept guarantees when its teams played away from home. Arrangements were made to schedule games on a two year home-and-home basis.

About This And That In Many Sports

Wildcat Backs Speedy

The highest touted backfield combination in the Big Ten will perform at the Buckeye stadium next Saturday afternoon : : : It is that group representing Northwestern university, and it includes Don Heap, Bon Swisher, Fred Vanzo, and the great negro runner, Bernie Jefferson : : : The Buckeyes have a sweet job of halting this combination, but Coach Francis Schmidt believes his boys can do it : : : He claims the Wildcats were lucky last week to defeat Purdue, and there isn't much question about it in this corner * * * *

Three Bucks Injured

A couple of the Bucks are somewhat under the weather : : : They include Sub-Pullback Forrest Fordham, First-string Tackle Alex Schoenbaum, and Third-string Quarterback Bill Bullock of the white hair : : : They'll all be ready for action against the Wildcats, though * * * *

Indians Need Lazzeri

Tony Lazzeri, the scrapping, consistent second baseman of the New York Yankees, is hunting a job, and he ought to have one right here in Ohio : : : Cleveland is the place : : : The Indians have been hunting a manager who will actually manage, and Lazzeri would do just that : : : His color, aggressiveness, and personality would mean a lot to the Indian prima donnas * * * * ties, F. F. A. meetings, and other things. The council should set a certain time for parties to begin and end. Then people would not be wondering what time to arrive. I think something should be done about reckless driving around the schoolhouse for there was one student of Walnut hurt last year for life just because someone was showing off. There should be a punishment concerning reckless driving. When boys and girls break a window out of a school bus, they should be punished in some way. I think boys and girls should not cut up on the school truck. They should not make so much noise so as to attract the driver's attention from the road, for if he looks around at their charges, he might run into the ditch or hit an approaching automobile. I think this council would be a good thing.

2. PHIL LANMAN, Sophomore: The council will promote class opinion. It will regulate school parties. I think both of these things are very good.

This form of representation will raise the students opinion of the faculty for it will rule at school parties, etc., in place of the teachers. But I think the students will obey the council's rules sooner than those of the faculty.

The powers of social legislation, recall and referendum for the school body are very good ideas, for then the council can not run away with offices.

I really think for the above reasons, that the student council will be a great benefit to Walnut High School.

3. HELEN McCORD, Junior: The student council is a new body in our school. It consists of eleven elected members of whom five are Seniors, namely: Hugh Lamb, Norman Trapp, Adelia Hartley, Ernest Winterhoff, and Gayle Reigel; the Juniors are Helen McCord, Stanley Lewis, and Forrest Hoffman; the Sophomores and Freshmen have not yet elected their members.

In my opinion the council will succeed for the following reasons: (1) A picked group as members, (2) It will make the students feel they are running themselves, to a certain extent, (3) It will also help the progress of public opinion.

As a whole, I think the council is a very good thing for the school.

5. HUGH LAMB, Senior: A student council will have a function much the same as a city government, that is, to govern the high school as a group of men govern a city. The teachers and students of the council should work together in making rules for the high school. In this way the students' opinions can be expressed directly to teachers.

Other duties of the council will be to reprimand anyone who is becoming a detriment to the high school and to set an example for other members of the high school.

Our Coal Tells It's Own Story

We depend on our coal to tell its own story of quality and service. For if our patrons who use our coal day after day and season after season are not pleased and recommend it to their neighbors and friends it matters little what we may say.

The final word must be spoken by the coal itself. The user who tells his next-door neighbor how good our coal proves to be in actual service is the best advertiser.

A great many of our orders these days are on the recommendation of present users.

DIRECTORS DECLARE ALL ARRANGEMENTS COMPLETED FOR SHOW

SOCIETY MEETS TO DISCUSS ALL FINAL DETAILS

Many Entries Listed For Horse Events; Colville Seeking $1,600

GRAIN EXHIBIT GOOD

Harry Carson, Columbus Detective, to Attend

Directors of the Pumpkin Show society met in the council chamber Monday evening to clear up last-minute preparations for the opening of the big celebration at noon Wednesday.

Reports from the various departments gave promise that the show would surpass all previous celebrations in size and interests.

E. E. Wolf, director of the horse show, announced that 89 entries have been received to date for the saddle, light harness and pony classes. Eighty entries have been received in the draft horse division and more are arriving daily. In addition horse show officials hope four and six-horse teams will be brought here for the saddle show. Sponsors of the teams were not announced.

Mr. Wolf asked that a band play at the saddle horse show on Thursday and Friday nights. This show will be held on the high school athletic field. Loud speaker systems will be used for both the saddle and draft horse shows. The draft horse show will be held on the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., field, W. Mound street.

$1,600 Collections Sought

R. G. Colville, show treasurer, reported collections to date on the solicitation drive total $584. The society hopes to collect at least $1,600. The drive is in charge of members of the Rotary club.

Mayor W. J. Graham, president of the society, announced that he had made arrangements to use a truck as a judging stand for the drum corps contest on Thursday night. The truck will be stationed in the downtown district and will be removed after the parade.

Mayor Graham expressed his appreciation to show directors for their efforts in making the 1937 show "Bigger and Better." "Just pray and hope we have good weather and we will have another outstanding Pumpkin Show," the mayor said. "Directors have done wonderful work." He thanked newspapers for their co-operation in advertising the show.

The mayor warned directors and merchants concerning reports of men soliciting advertising to be broadcast over a loud speaker system during the show. "We have an ordinance to stop this type of advertising," he said. "Merchants should be warned not to throw away their money on that type of advertising as we do not expect to permit the speaker system to operate."

Pumpkins, Grains Sought

Joseph Lynch and John Walters reported their departments were "all set" for the event and ready to receive entries. Walters, in charge of farm produce exhibits, made a special appeal to farmers for pumpkins and grains. Large pumpkins are scarce this year due to floods destroying the lowland crops. Pickaway county has had outstanding crops of grain this year and efforts will be made to boost that exhibit as much as possible.

Officials decided that a truck equipped with a flat bed would be used as a reviewing stand for mayors of nearby cities who will be guests of the society on Thursday night. Previous plans were to erect a platform.

Pickaway street between Franklin and Mound streets will be used to line up floats for the parades. Proctor Baughman, parade chairman, had planned to use Pickaway street between Main and Franklin streets for that purpose, but the arrangement was changed due to the installation of horse-shoe pitching courts in that block.

Harry Carson, of the Columbus detective bureau, will be here during the show to watch for pickpockets.

Directors were informed that an information office had been opened in the city building and persons who have rooms to rent to show visitors may file their names with that office. The telephone number is 332.

The society appropriated $200 for the employment of special police during the celebration and asked Mayor Graham to keep the city free of tramps who follow up the various festivals. Directors made the recommendation after the mayor reported 22 were lodged in the hobo room in the city building Monday night. Mr. Graham urged residents to see that their homes are properly locked. A light should be left burning.

POWERS GATHER IN LONDON FOR WAR DISCUSSION

LONDON, Oct. 19. — (UP) — Armed with fresh instructions, delegates of nine European powers began today the crucial business stage of negotiation on withdrawal of foreign volunteers from the Spanish civil war.

Delegates were pessimistic. But French sources, usually well-informed, reported that France was ready to make a new concession to Italy—to propose that an equal number of volunteers be withdrawn from the Spanish Nationalist and Spanish Loyalist armies as a symbol of good faith. So far France has insisted firmly that any withdrawal, even symbolic, must be in proportion to the number of volunteers fighting for the respective combatants.

Today's meeting was a resumption of one Saturday of the "chairman's sub-committee" of the Spanish non-intervention committee. Represented were Britain, France and Russia, all insisting that all foreign volunteers must be withdrawn; Germany, Italy and Portugal, all in favor of the Nationalists and insisting that any withdrawal must not only be in equal number but must be accompanied by recognition of the Nationalists as belligerents with rights under international law; Sweden, representing the Baltic powers; Czechoslovakia, representing the Little Entente and Balkan entente, and neutral Belgium.

Circuit Judge Theo. T. Jacobs, Sturgis, Mich., will speak and Lieut. Van A. Loomis of the state police will explain the blockade plan, intended principally to prevent persons sought immediately after crimes have been committed from evading capture by crossing state lines.

storm in the extraordinary session of congress which will convene Nov. 15. They appeared in the midst of the most ominous stock market slump since the New Deal took command.

Congress might, however, expand the spending program and further unbalance the budget. Mr. Roosevelt scheduled $180,000,000 for "supplemental items" — to cover overspending in some categories and possibly additional expenditures ordered by congress. One such likely item was loans on this year's corn crop, understood to be under serious consideration.

Former Gov. Alf. M. Landon, speaking tonight in Topeka, Kan., to reassess his leadership of the Republican party, probably will make the Roosevelt fiscal report a major theme.

In his budget summation and revision of more optimistic January and April estimates, Mr. Roosevelt reported last night: 1—Revenue for this fiscal year ending June 30, 1938 will be $6,650,410,000, second largest in treasury records.

2—Expenditures will total $7,545,655,000. A decrease from peaks of the 1936 and 1937 fiscal years.

3—Disappointing tax revenue and congressional appropriations beyond budgeted levels upset calculations and are largely responsible for the unexpectedly large deficit.

Mr. Roosevelt revealed that treasury experts over-estimated 1938 fiscal year tax receipts by $643,000,000 in last January's budget and by $258,000,000 when those figures were revised in April.

He announced the imminent liquidation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the Public Works administration.

Neither emergency agency will be permitted to make further loan or other commitments. Mr. Roosevelt said some commitments now existing probably would lapse by failure of potential borrowers to meet conditions imposed, or otherwise. PWA was forbidden specifically from increasing any loan or grant commitment for any project already approved. Both agencies, however, are free to discharge all existing commitments.

crash in the snow and the bodies were nearly covered," he said. "It was terrible."

Members of the party said that had the plane been flying only about 300 feet to the right it would have gone through a notch in the ridge and cleared the mountain range.

Snow was so deep in the wild mountain country that Johnson's searching party was unable to proceed even at the rate of one mile an hour. The drifts ranged from three to six feet in depth.

Automobiles Blocked
Searchers were able to get within three miles of the scene by automobile, but it was a long, difficult climb from the end of the road to the 10,000 foot level where the wreckage lay.

United Airlines officials immediately organized a party of about ten ranchers in Knight to start out with a pack train to bring out the bodies.

The searching party arrived at the wreckage after dark last night and only with great difficulty determined extent of the wreck.

They had no light. The only man in the party with a flashlight fainted on the trail and dropped out of the party.

Two planes from Salt Lake City, carrying 14 United Airlines officials and employees, arrived here shortly before 7 a. m. The men will assist in bringing out the 19 bodies.
